News for Immediate Release

James Herrington Joins HDM and HDMGS as Chief Marketing Officer

King of Prussia, PA (June 11, 2007) – Healthcare Data Management, Inc. (HDM), a leading provider of fully-integrated benefits analysis and financial reporting solutions for leading employer groups with self-insured health plans, and HDM Government Services, LLC (HDMGS), an affiliate of HDM providing the same but to the public sector, are pleased to announce James Herrington has joined as a Principal, assuming the role of Chief Marketing Officer (CMO) and business development responsibilities.

Herrington, who has more than 30 years experience in managed care and management consulting, is an accomplished senior executive with significant experience in sales management, business development, communications, advertising, product development, and marketing operations with a broad knowledge of health delivery systems, markets, and health economics.

Previous to joining HDM and HDMGS, Herrington served as Chief Marketing Officer for Private Healthcare Systems, Chief Marketing Executive for National Account Service Company, LLC (NASCO), Vice President for Sales and Marketing for Peer Review Analysis, Inc., Director of East Region Health and Welfare Practice for Ernst and Young, LLP after 14 years with Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts in various marketing and account management roles.

“Jim brings to HDM and HDMGS an extensive and successful track record in building and managing sales teams and creating new business opportunities,” said David McSweeney, Chief Operating Officer. “His extensive background in the managed care industry will allow him to play a major role in the roll-out of HDM’s growth strategies. He will be a key part of our executive team.”

“HDM is the recognized leader in providing cost reduction, expense management, and compliance services for self-insured employers and has a excellent long-standing reputation, said Herrington. “I look forward to driving the sales and business development efforts and working with both the HDM and HDMGS teams as they continue to set standards in helping their clients identify control issues, overcharges and identify future savings.”
